We will explore the emergence of new fuel types, the introduction and expansion of qualified motor vehicles operating on such fuels and how jurisdictions are currently taxing such fuels. We will look at the various methods of utilizing the IFTA tax return to collect the tax on the use of such fuels and solicit your insight on how jurisdictions, carriers, and service providers are addressing the rapidly changing industry. Discussion of Vehicle-Specific Data - IFTA - Lucas-Flora Panel: Mr. Gerry, Mr. Randall, Mr. Romeo, Mr. Daneils & Mr. Billy Johnson (VA) A comprehensive look at why the collection of vehicle-specific information is rapidly becoming a desired addition to the governing documents of IFTA. What data elements should be captured? How will the data elements be collected? How will the collection of such data affect various stakeholders and the business processes of administering IFTA? What role could the IFTA Clearinghouse play in the data capture and data storage? What would jurisdictions, carriers, service providers, technology companies, and IFTA, Inc. need to do to prepare for this additional requirement as we move toward the future? We will explain in great detail what the 2024 IFTA Ballot Proposal says and what it means for your jurisdiction and other stakeholders.
		Advances in Technology - World News Affecting our Community - Crystal Ballroom Mr. Martorana & Mr. LaRose The world is changing before our very eyes. Find out just how rapidly these changes are happening both here and abroad. What are the latest trends in technology? What technologies are in the market today and what is just around the corner? New fuels, innovative ways of fueling and charging vehicles. Commercial and even passenger vehicles operating on electricity, hydrogen, and more! What are vehicle manufacturers doing on both the commercial and passenger sides? How is the nation's infrastructure changing? What timelines are in effect? How do the timelines toward embracing zero emissions intersect between government and the business world? How is this changing environment affecting IFTA in the near term and into the future? What do we need to consider in addressing all of these changes?
