Re: Website Access

Date: October 27, 2020

Over the last few days, we have experienced intermittent outage issues with the IRP, Inc. website. We have been working with our service provider for the website and hope to have the issues resolved soon. The issue has been ongoing for the last few days and our provider is very aware of the problem and is actively working on a solution. We apologize for the inconvenience and again we hope to have all issues resolved very soon.

Thank you!

Amy Cook
